

Who is Henry?

Henry is a three-legged cat who opens people's eyes and minds . . . as well as their hearts.

Henry's message is an important one for kids of all ages – from six to sixty (and beyond) . . .

He transforms ignorance into acceptance and love. In overcoming his own problems, Henry inspires us to transcend the bias and barriers we encounter in our lives. He is a hopeful symbol of beating the odds.

Tragedies abound in our world. People feel as if they can't make a difference. Henry teaches that just because you cannot do everything is no excuse for doing nothing. Two dog-devoted people rescued Henry. In spite of not liking cats, they chose to save his life and he changed theirs forever.

He reminds us that we are defined not by our misfortunes, but by our responses to them.

He shows us that hatred is often learned and born of ignorance and how easy it is to hate what we don't understand.

Through his gentle example, he demonstrates the compelling nature of vulnerability and power of the two most powerful words in our language: "Help Me."
